

MARIE, IN HUFF, HIGH HATS AMERICA; SNUBS AIR FANS, FAWNS ON BANKERS

Uses Gold-Digger Methods to Float $100,000,000 Loan

How much like the conduct of any ordinary gold-digger is that of the blue-blooded Queen of Rumania, who, as exclusively revealed by The GRAPHIC in its sensational series on the motives behind the monarch's mission, came here with the idea of touching Uncle Sam to the sweet tune of $100,000,000.

For the money princes, holding the nation's wealth at their disposal, the Queen had only smiles. She hurried all-over town to win their favor. First she lunched with them at the Bankers Club, then dined with them at the Iron and Steel Board of Trade function at the Commodore and then supped at the home of Judge Elbert H. Gary.

Chased the Bankers

The Queen was so busy hobnobbing with the money masters she couldn't find time to deliver her scheduled talk on the radio. It was to be a message to 20,000,000 Americans and she balked at giving it because only a few policemen were on hand to receive her when she called at the WJZ studios in Aeolian Hall half an hour before she was scheduled to take the air. So the Queen went away in a huff.

Efforts to learn how successful the Queen was in her endeavor to line up the nation's money masters in sympathy with the plan for a big loan were unsuccessful today. Both the luncheon at the Bankers Club and the dinner at the Commodore, to say nothing of the supper at Gary's home, were very private. But the Queen's biggest misfortune of the day, it was generally agreed, was her failure to broadcast her speech over WJZ as arranged.

She incurred the resentment of millions of disappointed listeners, which, coupled with growing dissatisfaction with the royal visitors, already evidenced in the past few days by the withdrawal of prominent patrons from the committee arranging a benefit in her honor tonight, threatens to disrupt her money-borrowing plans.

All America was tuned in to listen to the Rumanian monarch's speech to the women of the nation, but with a display of temper that may get over with a subject people, but it not likely to endear any one, not even a queen, to a liberty-loving folk, she flatly refused to keep her engagement.

The Queen left Aeolian Hall in a huff when she found no committee on hand to receive her at Aeolian Hall at 8.05 p. m.

Marie was not scheduled to go on the air until 8.30 but she didn't wait and shot back to her suite at the Ambassador.

While all America waited the program was filled in with some hastily arranged musical numbers. Still the Queen was among the missing.

David Sarnoff of the Radio Corporation of America hurried over to the Ambassador and pleaded with the Queen to come around and make the speech.

But the Queen wouldn't hear of it.

She wasn't able to get his argument that it was due to a misunderstanding that no committee was on hand to receive her.

Sarnoff went back to the studio greatly disappointed, and the list-

(Continued on Page 5)

Only a Memory

WATCHING her hero, Miss Naomi Braden of Pittsburgh stood by her fiancée, Harry Greb, trained for recent bout. Miss Braden was at his bedside when former world's middleweight champion died yesterday at Atlantic City, following an operation for a fracture of the bone at the top of his nose, suffered in an automobile accident.

Few Houses Stand on Isle Of Pines in Fatal Storm

HAVANA, CUBA, Oct. 23.—Latest dispatches so far today report that among the thirty-two persons killed in a hurricane that caused heavy damage last Wednesday on the Isle of Pines, the bodies of seventeen Americans were found.

Watson Denies Aid From Klan in Political Graft

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—The Senate Campaign Fund Committee today has practically ended its investigations into charges of graft in politics throughout Indiana.

Yesterday, from his bed in the Methodist Hospital, where he is recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident, Senator Watson, Republican, denied that he had allied himself politically to the Ku Klux Klan and that W. Lee Smith, grand dragon, had aided him during the elections.

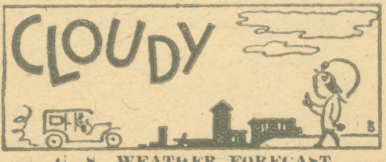

Several other witnesses testified concerning the political affairs of this state, among whom were Senator Robinson, who appeared voluntarily before the hearing. Former members of the Ku Klux Klan told Senator Reed, Missouri, Democrat, and chairman of the committee, that they had been informed Senator Watson was to get aid from the Klan.

Senator Reed

THE WEATHER

SATURDAY, OCT. 23, 1926

U. S. WEATHER FORECAST
LOCAL—Mostly cloudy and cooler at night; fresh north by west winds, becoming northwest.
EASTERN NEW YORK—Mostly cloudy and cooler at night; fresh north by west winds, becoming northeast.

'Kill the Jews,' Cry Violent Circulars Secret Police Distribute in Rumania

"The blood lust of the Hackenkreitz!"

Rumania's secret police, who, seemingly, with quasi-government approval, fan and foment the tempest of hate against the Jews until it rages like an unrestrained tornado, leaving broken bodies and death in its wake.

"Death struggles amid raucous laughter!"

Maurice Rubinstein, of 1902 7th Ave., just returned from Rumania, concludes in this instalment of Jewish atrocities the scenes of horror and terrorism he personally observed under the very walls of the Rumanian imperial castle.

He tells of circulars being distributed by the "Hackenkreitz" about the streets, in which, in blood-red type, is the injunction of "KILL THE JEWS!"

Harry Greb Dies After Operation; Last Word for Girl

Special Dispatch to The GRAPHIC ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 23.

The "Pittsburgh Windmill" has made its last revolution.

Harry Greb, former middleweight champion, veteran of hundreds of ring battles that carried him to every part of the country, is dead here. He did not recover from the coma that followed the application of an operating anesthetic.

Greb died with only his sweetheart, Miss Naomi Braden of Pittsburgh, at his bedside. His last words were to her before he fell into the stupor that existed until he went west.

(Details of Harry Greb's life will be found on the sporting pages.)

Denounces Mills, Says Dry Repeal Is Biggest Issue

"The prohibition law has created disrespect for all laws, and the sooner it is repealed the sooner we will have less crime and vice."

This was the opinion expressed by Dominick Palmieri of 29 Beekman St., in denouncing Congressman Mills for clouding the real issues of the present campaign.

"The attacks on Gov. Smith are unjustified and without a foundation of truth," he declared. "Milk is not the issue before the people, but prohibition. Millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money are being spent by the government in a forlorn hope to enforce the dry law."

"Not until Gov. Smith is again elected governor will we have a champion and a protector of our rights and personal liberties."

"In all Rumania there is a 'police organization' called 'the Hackenkreitz,' of which her majesty, Queen Marie, is reported to be an 'honorary member' and in full queenly sympathy.

Girl Attacked in Train

"On my way to Jassy, by train, were two Jewish girls. One was attacked in a compartment of the train by a member of the Imperial 'Hackenkreitz' and when his passion was appeased she was tossed from the flying train to where, amid the ashes of the track, she found welcoming death. Her sister was taken from the train at Jassy by the same official. You can imagine her fate. That dead sister on the railroad track was the fortunate one of the two.

"A certain Mr. Rosenthal was deliberately killed in Bucharest by a Rumanian student. The killer was tried. His defense was 'I killed a JEW.' The prosecutor DEFENDED the student and begged for his acquittal, which was readily granted, although he was 'compelled' to pay a fine of 25c." And while the Rumanian student was in jail 'awaiting trial' members of the 'Hackenkreitz' daily supplied him with delicacies and furnished his cell with all the comforts of the American hotels that Queen Marie has honored with her gracious presence.

Applauded for Murder

"In Piatra, on August 4, a Jew was killed in the Gradino Public

(Continued on Page 31)

Smith Ends Up-State Drive With Albany Rally Tonight

(Special Dispatch to The GRAPHIC)

ALBANY, Oct. 23.—Fifteen thousand Democrats will participate in a giant rally here tonight when Gov. Smith makes his last up-state speech before carrying the campaign into the metropolitan area. The speaking will be preceded by a big parade with a dozen bands in line and red flares and all the other customary election trimmings.

The governor plans to leave here Monday afternoon and will speak in Yonkers in the evening. Tuesday he will campaign in The Bronx. On Wednesday he speaks in Richmond; on Thursday in Queens and Friday in the Brooklyn Academy of Music. The final big meeting will be on Saturday in the Metropolitan Opera House.

In his speech in Schenectady last night Gov. Smith renewed his demand upon the Republican candidate for governor, Congressman Ogden L. Mills, to declare himself on state issues. The governor called upon Mills to say in the event he is elected what will be his policy with regard to the executive budget, workmen's compensation, home rule and education in rural sections.

The Schenectady rally was held in the Albany Theater, which was jammed to the doors. The crowd outside was so great that the police had to open a way for the governor to enter the theater.

Former Lieut. Gov. George F. Lunn, who presided, introduced Gov. Smith and declared that there would be no "Al and Jim" compromise at the next election.

"Al," he said, "doesn't want Jim as senator and Jim doesn't want Al for governor. And that's that."

LEVIATHAN'S COMMANDER MADE LINE COMMODORE

A distinguished company of Lincoln guests aboard the United States Lines flagship Leviathan yesterday saw Commander Herbert Hartley, U. S. N. R., captain of that vessel, made commodore of the United States Lines fleet.

Brig. Gen. A. C. Dalton, president of the Fleet Corporation, presented the commission to Commodore Hartley and commissioned Capt. H. A. Cunningham vice-commodore. Gen. Dalton, Gen. Robert Lee Bullard and Admiral Charles T. Plunkett were among the speakers.

Commodore Hartley